A Ghost Story.

J. Henniker Heaton tells an interesting sequel to the most famous Australian ghost story, which came to his knowledge as one of the proprietors of the leading New South Wales weekly, The Town and Country Journal. One of the most famous murder cases in Australia was discovered by the ghost of the murdered man sitting on the rail of a dam (Australian for horse pond) into which his body had been thrown. Numberless people saw it, and the crime was daily brought home.

Years after a dying man making his confession said that he invented the ghost. He witnessed the crime, but was threatened with death if he divulged it as he wished to, and the only way to save out of the impasse was to affect to see the ghost where the body would be found. As soon as he started the story, such is the power of nervousness that numerous other people began to see it until it became a fact. The ghost was found and the murderers brought to justice.—London Literary World.

Losing Hold on Life.

She then and there lost her hold upon life. She was poisoned and must die. She was sure of it as the Chinaman who has seen an eagle, and who, recognizing that his hour is come, calmly lies down and breathes his last by the mere suspension of volition. In old countries the lower orders, as a rule, have but a low vitality. It may be true, but the learned settle the definition. The fact is easily accounted for. During generations upon generations the majority of European agricultural populations live upon vegetable food, like the majority of eastern Asiatics, and with the same result. Hard labor produces hard muscles, but vegetable food yields a low vital tension, so to say. Soldiers know it well enough. The pale city clerk who eats meat twice a day will outfight and outlast and outlive the busy laborer whose big thighs and sinews are most compounded of potatoes, corn and water.—Casa Braccio, by Marion Crawford, in Century.

Thoughts.

The trees may outlive the memory of more than one of those in whose honor they were planted. If it is something to make two blades of grass grow where only one was growing, it is much more to have been the occasion of the planting of an oak which shall defy twenty seasons of winters, or of an elm which shall canopy with its green cloud of foliage half as many generations of mortal immortals.

Our thoughts are plants that never flourish in inhospitable soils or chilling atmospheres. They are all started under glass, so to speak—that is, cherished and fostered in our own sunny consciousness. They must expect some rough treatment when we lift the sash from the frame and let the outside elements in upon them. They can hear the rain and the breezes and be all the better for them, but perpetual contradiction is as polluting hailstorm, which spoils the growth and tends to kill them out altogether.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Very Much Absorbed.

Owen's power of concentration and absorption in a subject which interested him was not confined to professional or scientific matters. We find that on Jan. 22, 1848, after having heard a lecture of Whewell's, he went on to the club and took up Thackeray's "Vanity Fair" to read. He became so deeply absorbed in the book that he sat on, oblivious of the fact that every one else had disappeared one by one. He was also apparently deaf to coughs and hints of attendance, etc., but still sat there reading and laughing to himself. At last, in desperation, the men came forward and began to take away the lamps. Then, having looked at his watch and found it considerably past 2 a. m., he rushed wildly out of the club, and like a scientific Cinderella left his umbrella and greatcoat behind.—"The Life of Richard Owen," by His Grandson.

Manners in Suffolk.

A delicate taste or refined manners at table are not among the characteristics of the Suffolk peasant. One to whom some cucumber had been sent as a gift who he was ill sent the next day with a request for "some more of Mrs. Groome's nice gravy." At a table d'hôte a old farmer, having some bread and butter, took as much as he could lay his hands on, and having tasted it said, "Don't close none." Another, by way of expressing approval of a particularly pudding, remarked that he "could use in the nighttime and eat it," and a third, supposing he would get but one plate, shoveled his fishbones under the table.—London News.

Women who have a fancy for heavier perfumes than delicate toilet waters and clear-smelling essences, and who affect some special essence, are not always aware, perhaps, that few of the flowers are named play any part in contributing to the rich fragrance.

In the "Great Fire of London," 1666, 13,200 houses, churches, halls, libraries, etc., etc., were destroyed and only six have been restored.

"Pellets" are superior in a great many ways to all mineral waters, cathartics, salts, castor oil, fruit syrups, laxative teas, and other purgative compounds. Made of concentrated vegetable ingredients, they act in a mild, natural way. Their secondary effect is to keep the liver active and the bowels regular, not to further constipate, as is the case with other pills. They don't leave in the least, habit, or produce any effect in a mild, natural way. Their secondary effect is to keep the liver active and the bowels regular, not to further constipate, as is the case with other pills. They don't leave in the least, habit, or produce any effect in a mild, natural way.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness, sick headache, dizziness, costiveness, or constipation, stomach, loss of appetite, coated tongue, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heart-burn," and all kinds of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. These "Pellets" are easily dissolved in the stomach and absorbed into the blood, stimulating a flow of bile from the liver, and arousing to activity all the glandular secretions. Thus they act in nature's own way. In proof of their superior excellence, it can be truthfully said, that they are always adopted as a household remedy after the first trial. Put up in glass vials, therefore always fresh and reliable.

One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are mildly cathartic. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day after meals. To relieve distress from over-eating, they are unequalled. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules; any child will readily take them. Once used, always in favor.

S

ANOTHER BLOW TO SILVER.

Secretary Carlisle, at the instance of the gold trust, has given another blow to silver. After November 1st the coinage of silver, except subsidiary coins, such as dimes and quarters, will cease and the mint at New Orleans will be closed and probably dismantled, though that might require an act of Congress.

The total coinage of silver dollars under the Bland and Sherman acts amounts to $423,259,307. Since Secretary Carlisle has been at the head of the Treasury Department only $382,224 standard dollars have been coined and since the commencement of the present fiscal year only ninety standard dollars have been minted.

There are 137,634,000 ounces of fine bullion now in the Treasury. This was purchased under the Sherman Act at a cost of $124,080,923. If coined it would make 17,964,000 standard dollars and the Government would derive a profit of very nearly $54,000,000 from the transaction. Instead, however, of using the Carson and New Orleans mints to coin the silver it prefers to close them and issue interest-bearing bonds for gold to make up the deficiency between the Government receipts and expenditures, and Senator Sherman in his speech at Massillon, Ohio, just one week ago, said he, with the great body of the Republican party, approved this policy.

The Sherman Act of 1890 provided that the Treasury notes issued in payment of silver bullion might be redeemed in coin, gold or silver, at the option of the Secretary of the Treasury. Though the notes state on their face that they are redeemable in coin, Secretary Windom construed the law to mean that they were redeemable in gold. Secretary Foster, who succeeded Windom, placed the same construction on the law, and Secretary Carlisle followed their example, furnishing more proof that there is no difference between Republican and Democratic Administrations on the monetary question. Under this construction $76,193,522 in Treasury notes have been redeemed in gold.

If the silver bullion now in the Treasury was coined it would add $177,964,000 to the money in circulation. If people did not want the coin they could get silver notes, which are redeemable in standard dollars. As the gold ring does not want more money put in circulation, especially legal tender notes redeemable in standard dollars, as that would interfere with its scheme to control the finances of the United States, no more silver dollars are coined, and the Treasury notes issued in payment of bullion are made gold obligations.

The financial policy of the Democratic and Republican factions of the Wall Street party is identical. Senator Sherman, who is held up by Republicans as the greatest living financier, says so and that policy will be continued during the next Administration if either faction of the gold party is in the ascendancy at Washington.

Do the people of Nevada think it advisable to support one or the other of these factions in the next Presidential campaign? Of course those who have their eyes on Federal positions and expect a stall at the public crib will answer in the affirmative and a few who desire a change in tariff schedules will echo the response, but the masses of the people, the farmers, miners, business men and the working classes generally, will emphatically say no.

DIVERTING RAILROAD TRAFFIC.

Railroad men say business is falling off on the Central Pacific. This is unusual at this season of the year when the fall trade is brisk. The cause is stated by the Chicago papers. The Inter-Ocean says in its efforts to shift business to the Sunset route the Southern Pacific has resorted to open rate-cutting and as freight is more easily diverted than passengers the company's efforts have been centered on the latter. It has recently withdrawn all Southern Pacific coupons from the ticket cases in all the local ticket offices of eastern roads, and extensively advertised the Sunset route at the expense of the Central Pacific.

The Chicago papers give prominence to the efforts of the Southern Pacific to divert travel and freight to the Southern route, because it injures Chicago to have eastern business go to New Orleans instead of west by the Union and the Central Pacific. That traffic is diverted from the Central line is evidenced by the fact that business is falling off between Sacramento and Ogden.

It may be that the Southern Pacific Company has no hope of getting a funding bill through the next Congress and as Mr. Huntington says the Central Pacific cannot pay the debt due the Government at maturity it is preparing to give up the road and is now diverting traffic from it to the Sunset route.

TELLER FOR THE SILVER PARTY.

A Washington dispatch says Senator Stewart announces in his newspaper with the concurrence of Senator Teller that the Republican silver men will support only a man who is unequivocally for silver for the Presidency. As Senator Teller is the acknowledged leader of the Republican silver forces the announcement has attracted a great deal of interest, as it means that he has left the Republican party and will join the silver men in organizing a National Silver party that will hold the balance of power in the Senate and elect the next President of the United States.

As the gold men are now shaping the old parties no man who favors free coinage can support either of them. Like our friends, Mr. Bothsides of the Gazette and Mr. Wallace of the Southern Pacific, both work for the same object, though they pretend to be bitterly opposed to each other.

THE TRIAL OF DURRANT.

General Dickinson Begins the Opening Argument.

THE COLLAPSE OF A FACTORY

A Fleet of Russian War Vessels Bound for Corea.

THE DURRANT TRIAL.

General Dickinson Pleading for His Client's Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 24.—General Dickinson began the opening argument for the defense in the trial of Theodore Durrant this morning. Without any preliminary remarks, he began the discussion of the incidents of April 3d. First he wished to consider the personality of the young man accused of the crime. Durrant was ambitious, studious and of the highest character, as the speaker contended he is now. General Dickinson alluded to the contention of Assistant District Attorney Piexotto, made yesterday, that Miss Lamont was the victim of Durrant's unbridled passion. He said there was nothing in the mass of testimony taken to show that Durrant was not a moral young man. Durrant's whole demeanor, both before and after his arrest, he said, had been that of an innocent man. The defendant himself had told Mrs. Noble the night Miss Lamont disappeared he rode to school with her in the morning. On the day of his arrest and when on the stand, he said, the defendant made the same statements. He told the story long before Conductor Shalmonth was found. The fact that Durrant left the book at Mrs. Noble's for Miss Lamont on April 5th, he said, contained too much method for a guilty man, and he therefore considered that as a circumstance going to show the innocence of the accused.

General Dickinson next made reference to the roll call, upon which it is evident the defense intends to base its case. He said that if the correctness of the roll call were admitted the prosecution's case fell to the ground. He said Dr. Cheney and Gray, the only two persons who even had the book in their possession, made no alterations, and he challenged the prosecution to show that any body else had.

He said that the mute testimony of the book was corroborated by all of the students in the class who testified on the stand that they did not answer to Durrant's name. The statement of the prosecution that the students were unwilling witnesses and perhaps withheld most important testimony was ridiculed, and he said that Students Glazer and Graham, the prosecution's two most important witnesses, were willing enough to tell what they knew. The notes of the lecture were next considered. Dickinson showed what he said were Durrant's notes, taken by Durrant at Dr. Cheney's lecture and said that they had been in his possession since April 17th. Dickinson said that this fact had an important bearing on Dr. Graham's statement to the effect that on April 20th Durrant told him he had no notes and asked to borrow Graham's in order that he might establish an alibi. The notes of Glazer and Durrant, arranged in parallel columns, were read to the jury to show the dissimilarity of the two. Dickinson said that the notes plainly showed that when Durrant and Glazer compared papers on April 10th, Durrant did not copy from Glazer.

General Dickinson said that he made the assertion with confidence that when Dr. Graham testified that on April 20 when Durrant told him that he had no notes he made a mistake. Graham, he said, believed had been influenced by J. S. Dunnigan, a newspaper man who is his most intimate friend. Dickinson did not mean that Dunnigan used improper methods to induce Graham to give testimony, but he said that Graham had become so excited over the matter that he had become confused. Dickinson asked the jury if they did not believe that Graham would have told Dunnigan the same day, if Durrant had told him on April 20 that he had no notes. Instead of that he waited until October 5. Another argument against the statement was the fact that at the time of the alleged interview Durrant did have notes of the lecture, which were in the possession of his attorneys.

He said there was no reason for Durrant to have made such a statement, and asked the jury if they believed he would have told Graham he had no notes, when at the very moment his notes were in the possession of his attorneys. Dickinson dwelt at length on the relations of the defendant and Blanche Lamont, which, he said, had been perfectly honorable on both sides throughout. So far from being his sweetheart or Durrant's best friend, he said, they had only been friends, and were no more to each other than any other two members of a congregation. He escorted her from meetings at the church a few times, but had always done so at the request of her aunt. Referring to the testimony of several reporters who testified that on the night of Durrant's arrest he told them he went to the church between 4 and 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of the murder, Dickinson said that the explanation the defendant made on the apparent discrepancy on the stand was reasonable and should be believed. Durrant testified that he meant that he left the college at that time.

BICYCLE FACTORY COLLAPSED.

Several Persons Buried in the Ruins. CLYDE, O., October 25.—Half of the east wall of the Elmore Manufacturing Company's three-story bicycle factory collapsed at 7:30 this morning. All the floors were filled with workmen. More than a dozen are badly injured. Several are buried under the debris. Volunteers risked their lives to rescue the unfortunates. The work of removing the debris still continues, but it is thought that all the injured have been rescued.

Workmen commenced this morning to dig a trench along the east wall of the building for the water main and this weakened the wall. All the men in the trench were caught under the falling wall and their escape from instant death is miraculous, as the wall fell outward. All three floors partly fell.

Russian War Vessels for Corea.

WASHINGTON, October 25.—A cable message which reports that a Russian fleet of fifteen vessels is on its way to Corea attracted much attention among the diplomatic representatives of the East to whom it was shown. It is regarded as presenting grave conditions. The fact that Pusan is one of the points toward which the Russians are heading is pointed out as especially significant. Pusan is at the southeasterly extremity of Corea and is the point nearest to Japan, being only twelve hours' sail from the Japanese mainland. Further north is Wen San, the strategic point in Corea which the Russians have long sought to secure. It is on Brighton's Bay. The bay is the only useful harbor in the stretch of 600 miles along the east coast of Corea. The harbor is perfectly sheltered and is open the year around.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

General Hains and Snows—The Weather in November.

(By Prof. W. T. Foster.)

St. Joseph, Mo., October 25—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 24th to 28th, and the next will reach the Pacific Coast about the 29th, cross the west of Rockies country by close of 30th, great central valleys 31st to November 2d, eastern states about November 3d.

This disturbance will occur during the coldest part of the month and while the warm wave will not go very high the cool wave will go unusually low.

Rain in the south and snows far north will very largely increase and the final relief of all drouth stricken countries will speedily follow. A vast amount of snow and rain will fall in all countries of America north of the equator between this and January 1st. Our atmosphere is greatly expanded and holds more moisture than it has for many years. The conditions are now favorable for precipitating that moisture.

Warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 29th, great central valleys the 31st, eastern States November 2d. Cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about November 1st, great central valleys 3d, eastern States the 4th.

The second disturbance of November will reach the Pacific Coast about November 4th, cross the west of the Rockies country by the close of the 5th, the great central valleys from the 6th to the 8th, and the eastern States the 9th.

Warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 4th, great central valleys the 8th, eastern States the 8th. Cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 7th, great central valleys the 9th, eastern States the 11th.

The principal features of this storm will be general rains and snow, not so heavy as will have accompanied the previous disturbance.

GENERAL WEATHER.

The month will be below normal in temperature as a general average of the whole country. The ten days from the 6th to 15th inclusive will average warmer than any other ten days of the month, and from the 16th to the 28th will be the coolest part of the month.

The most rain and snow will fall during the last half of the month.

The Southern States will generally average below and the Northern States about normal. In the vicinity of the Upper Lakes the month will average below normal temperature, in the Missouri Valley above, New England States about normal and from the Ohio Valley south and east below normal.

Rainfall in November will be near normal, taking an average of the whole country. In northern New England, about the Upper Lakes, in the Ohio and Lower Missouri Valleys the rainfall will be a little below the normal.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings Here, There and Everywhere.

Railroad men say the thermometer was five degrees below zero at Carlin Thursday morning, and ice an inch in thickness was formed.

Distillers have formed a trust to regulate the price and production of spirits. Ninety per cent of the distillers have entered into the combination.

Fire is still raging in the Franklin mines, near Seattle, Wash., and 200 men have been thrown out of employment by the cessation of operations. The bodies of the four men who were buried alive have not yet been found.

The Silver State says a young rascal with a "made sore leg" victimized many people in Wadsworth this week, supporting three healthy hobos by the traffic. He showed the disgusting sores to women to gain sympathy and coin.

Lieutenant Governor Millard of California is dead. Governor Budd announces that he will appoint W. T. Jeter of Santa Cruz Lieutenant Governor, and that there is no question as to his authority under the law to make the appointment.

The Reville says Mr. Woodruff, agent for Miller & Lux of California, recently purchased about 200 head of cattle in Nye county, from Messrs. Cook, Lognoz, Rogers and Hatton, and passed them through the country at the head of Reese river to Miller & Lux's ranch in Mason Valley, Nevada. The cattle sold for about $21 50 per head.

The Appeal says the corps of surveyors who have been surveying the State line between Nevada and California have returned. The survey has been extended as far south as Death Valley. The party will now survey the line about Lake Tahoe, which will complete this seasons work. The party is in charge of Messrs. Fairfield and St. Clair.

Of all the murderous implements of war that have been invented, the Otkolock automatic machine gun gives promise of being the deadliest. It is so constructed that after being set in motion by pulling the trigger it continues to load and fire itself at the rate of 600 shots a minute, for an indefinite length of time. The motive power is a small part of the gas produced by the explosion of the cartridge.

Fort Deposit, Alabama, has broken the record on babies, three mothers having given birth to ten children within a week. Just a week ago Mrs. Latimer, wife of a merchant, became the mother of two boys and a girl. The next day her neighbor, Mrs. Hunter, whose husband is a prominent farmer, followed suit with three babies. Mrs. Champion yesterday proved herself the champion in fact as well as in name by copping the climax with four children at a birth. All the babies are well formed and healthy and the mothers are doing well.

The W. R. C. Party.

There was a large attendance at the Woman's Relief Corps party last night. The Pavilion was appropriately decorated, Fredrick's orchestra furnished the music and the merry dance was kept up until an early hour this morning. The refreshments were all that could have been wished and every detail of the party was carried out under the management of the ladies in a thorough and satisfactory manner. Financially and socially it was a grand success and the members of the Corps feel grateful for the substantial support given them.

How the Verdict Was Made Unanimous.

The following is going the rounds of the press without credit:

"Gentlemen," said His Honor in a Western court-room, "what is your verdict?"

"Well," responded the foreman of the jury, "leven of us wants to hang the prisoner, but the twelfth man sticks to it he ain't guilty, spite of all we can say—so, bein' as the twelfth man is a no account fellow anyway, in order to make the verdict unanimous we've concluded to hang 'em both."

Death of Mrs. Moore

By the death of Mrs. Moore in Virginia City recently, a very excellent woman has gone to her reward. She was the mother of ex-United States Marshal James Moore, Miss Mamie Moore, teacher at the Orphans' Home, and Miss Kate and Master Thomas Moore of the State University. The young people have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends. The University students have adopted appropriate resolution which were published in last evening's Virginia Chronicle.

BREVITIES.

Pork and beans at Thyres' to-day.

Pete Evans was in his glory at the W. R. C. party last night. He was as chipper as a 17-year-old boy.

Mrs. Geo. T. Davis and daughters, Miss Blanche and Miss Grace, and son, George, arrived from Carson last evening. Miss Blanche remained over on a visit to Mrs. G. H. Thoma and the others continued on to San Francisco.

T. B. Gray, Esq., for many years a prominent teacher, principal and Superintendent of Schools in Storey county, but now of Nevada City, California, was in Reno yesterday as the guest of his old time friend, Principal Bray. He is now a prosperous insurance agent in our sister State.

Naturalists tell us that the ostrich imagines that by hiding its head it conceals its body. Mr. Bothsides of the Gazette, acting on the ostrich idea, imagines that he conceals the railroad collar on his own neck by heaping abuse on C. C. Wallace, who does not deny that he is in the employ of the railroads.

Aleck Dromiack returned from San Francisco yesterday. He came back dressed up in a full bicycle suit, someone having told him that it was the latest style. He would have worn bloomers, but the longest pair he could find in the city only reached part way to his knees, so he is going to have a pair made.

Burglars attempted to force an entrance into the residence of E. Crane on the south side of the river about 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The women folks heard them and gave the alarm. One of the house-breakers was a short, stout man, but owing to the darkness no definite description of him could be given.

A tramp undertook to make himself at home in H. J. Thyres' woodshed last night and his suspicious actions frightened the ladies in the neighborhood. Mr. Frank Bell was called and he and Mr. Nathan escorted the individual to the calaboose. He will have an opportunity to explain matters to Judge Linn this morning.

The late newspaper venture of Dunn, Dupuis and Vanderlioth, all Carson men, at Santa Cruz and which failed to connect, now threatens to end in a law suit. Five hundred dollars was paid on the purchase of the Penny Press as forfeit money, which Dupuis threatens to sue for, while Leedham, the ostensible owner, threatens to sue to enforce the agreement of purchase.

Lady Sholto Douglass, daughter-in-law of the Marquis of Queensbury, is in demand for the stage. She signed with a Boston company for $25 a week and expenses until December 14th, and for the rest of the season with the Fravelly Company at $300 a week. She may, if her husband accompanies her, be as popular among showmen before spring as was Lord Sackville West, who was offered $2,000 a week by the proprietor of a New York dime museum.

To Whom It May Concern.

Having to raise a large amount of money, I will give during the balance of this month 10 cents discount on every dollar of cash purchased from 50 cents up. Carpets and lincoliums are included in this offer. Those indebted to the firm are requested to make payments.

Halloween Party.

The Scotch residents of Reno will give a Scotch entertainment and ball in Armory Hall on the 31st of October, which will in our opinion be one of the most amusing and instructive of Scotch styles and customs that can be imagined, one of the most important of these will be the playing on the bagpipes by Donald Weir, one of the players who led the 9th Highlanders British Regiment to victory. t4.

Mr. J. C. McCabe, of Chama, New Mexico, is a well known locomotive engineer. He is a member of the Sierra Blanca, Div. No. 209, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.
